

Town of Hay River EMO Update

Breakup Report for Wednesday, May 6, 2020 0930

The Evacuation Order is now lifted for Vale Island and West Channel

Weather for the next few days

High Level area is presently warm and is showing a temperature of plus 19 today, plus 17 on Thursday.

Hay River area will be warmer today at a temperature of plus 12, dropping down to plus 9 on Thursday.

Water Levels

The Chinchaga is still sitting at about 1.9 meters and appears to be climbing.

Meander River has broken up and clear of ice, levels in that area are at 6 meters.

The Hay River at the Zama turnoff has broken up and the water levels are high

Steen River has dropped to 3.5

The NT/Alberta border levels are still high and holding.

We now have flow of water through the West Channel onto the lake. The East Channel is still jammed, and it will take a while to disperse.

Your Emergency Measures Team will continue to monitor to ensure that you are informed until such time as both channels are running freely to the lake.